BANDIT BOLD ROBS LOCAL MAIL TRAIN

With a six-shooter in his hand and a blue bandana wrapped about the lower part of his face, a bandit Tuesday afternoon jumped aboard the mail car of the San Luis Obispo local at Burlingame, held up Clerks George A. Scott and Mortimer M. Titus, and escaped with nineteen packages of registered mail and a greater quantity of local mail. He left behind him not the slightest clew.

Not until the train arrived at the Third and Townsend streets depot in San Francisco, at 4 o'clock, was the robbery discovered. Then it was that Scott and Titus, tightly wrapped in mail sacks, were found, nearly unconscious. Resuscitated, they gave a fairly lucid narrative of their experiences and a few minutes later a score of city deputies and United States Postoffice inspectors threw out a dragent about the peninsula territory.

The robbery was as daring a bit of outlawry as postal inspectors have encountered in years. The bandit apparently knew every movement of the train—when the mail car door was opened, when it was closed, whether the train was on time or delayed, whether it would slow up or speed leaving Burlingame.

As the San Luis Obispo local left Burlingame the robber easily caught the mail car and jumped aboard. With his features covered by the blue bandana he accosted the clerks with a pistol.

"If you move," he said quietly, "I shall be obliged to fill you full of lead."

Resistence, they claim, would have been foolhardy. They surrendered. The bandit forced Scott to throw a mail pouch over Titus' head and wrap it firmly about the latter's legs. Titus was then thrown under a tab'e in the car. The bandit supervised personally the work of rendering Scott helpless in the same manner. Within a few moments both clerks were under the table, wrapped in pouches and almost afraid to breathe.

The bandit then turned to the mail, rifled local and registered letters and disappeared—no one knows where. The two clerks under the table, with heads covered by mail sacks, didn't remember where he got off. They stuck under the table till the train arrived in San Francisco. One of the Third and Townsend attaches noticed the car door open and wondered why the clerks didn't appear.

An investigation was instituted. They were found beneath the table, still tightly bound and scarcely able to move. The hold-up was so sudden that the men couldn't even give a lucid description of the robber beyond remembering the blue handkerchief and six-shooter.

Southern Pacific police were notified and at once began a systematic search of the peninsula territory. At the same time Postal Inspector James O'Connell dispatched Inspector Madera, one of his best men, and a posse, on a search for the bandit.

It is impossible to estimate the loss at present. The robber rifled local mail from down the peninsula and took with him registered mail, the contents of which will be unknown until a check is made by the inspectors.

NEW AUTO LAW WILL BE IN FORCE DECEMBER 31

The new State law, passed May 31, 1913, regarding automobiles, will go into effect December 31st, 1913. One of its special provisions will work a hardship on local auto owners and operators who have been in the habit of letting their autos stand with the engine running and the car unlocked. It is becoming a practice for business men to let their autos stand with the engine running full while they transact business. Here is the new State law which will make such practice a misdemenor. One of the sections of chapter 326 reads as follows:

"No person having control or charge of a motor vehicle shall allow such vehicle to stand in any public street or public highway unattended without first locking or making it fast or effectively setting the breaks thereon and stopping the motor of said vehicle."

PRODUCE MAN KILLED IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

A. Micheletti, a produce merchant of Colma, is dead as a result of injuries received when an automobile in which he was driving on Hillside boulevard, near the county line, crashed into an embankment Saturday afternoon. Joseph Perasso, 805 Athens street, and Attorney A. A. Molffino, both of San Francisco, companions of Micheletti on the fatal trip, were severely bruised and are confined to their homes. A break in the steering gear of the automobile caused the accident.

with people, young and old, all pleased to hear the sincere pleading of the able speaker. At the masses on Sunday many received the holy sacrament.

Farran-Robertson.

Says the Santa Cruz Surf: Miss Della Robertson, formerly of this city, was married September 18th at the Congregational church at Redwood City to George Farran, for twenty-five years in the government service. The bride is a young lady of many friends, as she has a winsome disposition. She has lived in San Francisco and Los Angeles since leaving here and many in this city offer the bride and groom their best wishes.

NATIVE SONS WIN HOT BALL CONTEST

Last Sunday afternoon a team from Herbert's Hotel, San Francisco, fell before the local Native Sons' team by a score of 15 to 2. As usual, Bill Curran pitched a good game, Judge Lampkin had several passed balls, Bill Barg made errors, Jack Crown struck out and there were several others stunts by Jack Shields and Roy and Jack Curran. Heiner never worked so hard in his life when he was sprinting after two long hits which came in his domain. As for the "ump.," a Mr. M. W. Sneider, he made a hit. He was one of the old time ball players and with a "Santa Claus" beard he looked like one of the ancients. All in all it was some comedy.

At the last minute the Elbees refused to play the Boys' Club so no game was played Sunday morning. Efforts were made to get another team but it was too late. Next Sunday afternoon at 2:30, for the first time in local baseball history, a team representing South City will be seen on a local field when that team and the Boys' Club meet. Both have met and defeated several of the teams from San Francisco, South City defeating the Hamilton Outlaws, which team defeated our boys. Each team defeated Hire's Root Beer, South City by a score of 9 to 5 and the Boys' Club by a score of 7 to 2. According to the 'dope" the teams are about evenly matched, although the visitors are by far larger than the locals. The South City pitcher in the last two games struck out thirty-two men and allowed but eight hits.

Don't fail to take in this game as it will be a dandy, for our boys are determined to win. Come and help them "bring home the bacon." Admission, gents 15c, ladies 10c.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Congregational Chnrch will take orders for any kind of plain sewing. Orders can be left with Mrs. Lee Pipkin.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER

O. E. O'KEEFE, Editor and Proprietor

THE BEGINNING OF THE END.

The Progressive party, as it is represented in Congress, seems to be facing trouble. In fact the best information of the Republican leaders believe that disintregation has already set in among the Bull Moosers, and that this process will prove to be progressive. Indications are becoming frequent that members of Congress who have been identified with the Progressive party are about to cut adrift and again tie up with the Republicans—that is if they are permitted so to do. It is being made evident that many who have been recognized as among the leaders of the Progressives are exceedingly hopeful of amalgamation with the Republicans and that they are becoming convinced that those of the new party will fight fusion with the older organization will be lost in the political shuffle.

A notable example of men of this mind might be cited in the person of Representative Lafferty of Oregon, who has been allied with the Bull Moose during the session, who has declared recently that: "The Republican party is the real progressive party; members of that party are more progressive than the small band of so-called Progressives." It has been positively stated that Mr Lafferty hopes next year to be a candidate for re-election as a Republican.

Another notable expression of desire to return to his original allegiance is that of Representative Copley of Illinois, who during the present session has affiliated himself with the Progressives. Discussing the political situation recently he emphatically expressed the opinion that: "Amalgamation with the Republican party is necessary."

Premium Chrysanthemum.

Louis Goertzhain won the first prize at the flower show at the Fairmont hotel in San Francisco last Wednesday for his exhibit of the Portola chrysanthemum, his own production and a a new bloom in the floral kingdom. The flower is very large and a rare specimen and promises to be very popular this season.

Lumber Output Increasing.

The cut of timber in the National Forest in California for the fiscal year 1913 was 52,419,000 feet B. M, an increase of 17 per cent. over the cut for 1912; and the amount sold has increased 875 per cent, or is nearly ten times that for 1912. The total sales amountedto 1,064,804,000 feet, B. M., an average stumpage rate of $2.18 per M. The average rate received for the timber cut was $2.06. Six hundred and seven sales were made, an increase of 31 over the year 1912.

Fine Amusement Treat.

That manager Nathhorst of the Bell Theatre is determined to give his patrons the very best that can be secured for their money was made evident last night, when his audiences were treated to a magnificent program of seven full reels of high class moving pictures, and this without any increase in the usual popular prices of admission. The leading feature of the program was a splendid three-reel scenic drama, "Unmasked," in which are some intensely interesting dramatic situations, interspersed with thrilling bits of Alpine scenery. For those who enjoy the comical side of life were shown two reels of farce-comedy, full of laughable situations. Another attractive reel was "The Lady and the Glove," a strong Vitagraph drama, and a one-reel production, "The Romance of Rowena," a Kinetogram of pathos and humor combined. This splendid program will be repeated this Saturday evening, with the usual five and ten cent price of admission. Mr. Nathhorst is endeavoring to secure at least one of these special programs for each week.

NEWS GATHERED FROM THE COUNTY

Interesting Notes Picked Up By Hustling Reporters in the Country Districts.

SAN BRUNO NOTES.

At Wednesday evening's meeting of the Federated Improvement Clubs an unusual number attended to lend their support to continuance of the incorporation project started five months ago. Whether people coming into this county are to be accorded their legal rights or not is the question uppermost in their minds. After debating the subject for two hours it was decided to start mandamus proceedings. The sympathy of peninsula towns are with San Bruno. Large numbers of friends from Easton, Lomita Park, Colma, Daly City and other points are very outspoken and declare the question of incorporation should be given to the people of San Bruno to settle among themselves.

The Carpenters' hall association held a very spirited meeting Tuesday evening. A lengthy debate resulted in the resignation of the officers and the nomination of a new set, who will be confirmed at the next meeting.

Dr. Bohm and wife, Mrs. H. Green and nurse, returned from a week's outing at San Pedro. The Doctor is entertaining his friends with stories of the seaside but has great difficulty to convince them that the fish stories are original, as the fish baskets are empty. Thus their anticipations of the Doctor's prowess as a fisherman are shattered.

SUPERVISORS LET FIRST GOOD ROADS CONTRACT

Clark and Henery presented the lowest bid, at an adjourned meeting of the board of supervisors yesterday, for building the State highway through the City of San Mateo and they were awarded the contract at $36,000.

The bid was carefully examined by the advisory board and approved.

Surveyor Neuman stated that it had always been understood that in view of the fact that the surveyor receives the lowest salary of any county officer—$1600—he would be enabled to augment his income by doing private work. The duties devolving upon him by the contemplated road work had occupied all of his time and made it necessary for him to give up his private employment to his great loss. He thought that under those conditions his salary should be temporarily increased.

The advisory board recommended that Mr. Neuman's salary be increased by $150 per month, the money to be paid out of the bond issue and during such time as the road work is being done. It was so ordered.

GOOD ROADS CONVENTION CHIEF TOPIC

Trustee Geo. A. Deleau Relates Valuable Experience Gained at Session of California Municipal Officials

Trustee George A. Deleau, the official representative of this city at the annual convention of the League of California Municipalities, returned from his trip to the southern portion of the state Monday evening. While Mr. Deleau declares that his trip to the southland was in the main an instructive and pleasant one, yet he seems to have found some experiences which tender to slightly mar the enjoyment. For some reason, for which he seems hardly able to account, he suffered a slight attack of ptomaine poisoning, which confined him to his room for the greater portion of two days and somewhat interfered with his attendance upon the sessions of the convention.

Discussing the convention and its work with a representative of the Times-Gazette, Mr. Deleau stated that the range of subjects discussed was wide in its scope, embracing practically all departments of municipal business and legislation. In his opinion, however, but two subjects immediately concerning the residents of this city received general consideration, these being questions of road construction and sewage and garbage disposal, especial emphasis being given to the subject of good roads, the discussion of which occupied the time of the delegates for a considerable portion of two days.

To a large extent the sentiment of the delegates favored the use of oil macadam streets, especially for residential districts of cities of this class, these being admitted to be entirely practicable and durable, provided the requisite attention was given to their construction. In this discussion four leading points, in the opinion of Mr. Deleau, were developed, the most important of which was the quality of workmanship. It was generally admitted that roads of this character constructed in different localities under the same specifications might vary widely, both in appearance and durability. To a large extent experience has demonstrated that in work of this character the first essential is to secure a reliable contractor, one who is conversant with the methods of the work to be performed and who will give to the carrying out of his contract a thoroughly honest endeavor, both as to quality of material and thoroughness of workmanship. That these results may be assured, it was also insisted that the inspection of the work should at all times be in charge of a competent engineer, a man capable of a complete undrstanding of all parts of the specifications and thus competent to to detect the slightest deviation from the requirements.

In the discussion of material, it was the concensus of opinion that the best results were obtained from the use of rock of a uniform size and this as large as could be thoroughly compacted. With this there should be used the least amount of screenings possible to secure an even and smooth surface. In the opinion of those most conversant with this class of work there is also danger of a too liberal use of oil. Practical engineers now insist that no more oil should be allowed than is found absolutely necessary to bind the rock and form a compact mass. That solidity and wearing quality might be obtained, it was insisted that there could not be a too liberal use of the heavy roller, both as regards the subgrade and the surface of the roadway. In fact, remarks Mr. Deleau, the one slogan of the road constructors was "roll, roll, all the time."

From the extended discussion given the matter of sewage and garbage disposal, Mr. Deleau seems to be convinced that the mechanical disposal of these menaces to the health of the city is the only rational method and one which must be adopted for this city in the near future. In fact, in his opinion, this will soon become compolsory, from the fact that the state authorities will eventually prohibit the emptying of sewer outlets into the waters of the bay.

Speaking in a general way of his experiences among the people of the southern portion of the state, Mr. Deleau grew enthusiastic over the general spirit of unanimity in the matter of public improvements shown by the people of Los Angeles, and it is to this, rather than to any natural advantages, that he attributes the wonderful growth of that city, which has none of the commercial advantages of San Francisco. In Los Angeles he found a practically universal sentiment in favor of public improvements of all classes, not only among the wealthy but among those of smaller means. No matter how humble may be his possession, no owner of property raises his voice inprotest against street improvement, but rather welcomes the opportunity. That Los Angeles has made such wonderful success in its efforts at "boosting" is to him not a matter of wonderment after witnessing the readiness with which all classes respond to appeals for their support in matters of publicity, not only with words of encouragement to those engaged in the work, but in the more essential matter of liberal financial support. To this spirit and to its magnificent stretches of good roads and almost perfect system of electric railway communication—both urban and suburban—he attributes the remarkable advancement of that city, which lacks most of the commercial advantages of San Francisco as well as the climatic attractions of Redwood City and other portions of the peninsula.

Gustav Wolf and Ernest Held have brought suit in the Superior Court against the East San Mateo Land Company and W. H. O'Bear to compell the latter to execute a deed to lot 16, block 13, East San Mateo, in favor of plaintiffs. The complaint alleges that Ernest Held on April 12, 1909 contracted for the purchase of the lot. He was to pay $385 for the lot, $77 down and $10 in monthly installments until the balance of $318 should be paid. Held, on October 19, 1912, transferred his interest in the property to Wolf, after paying the amount due. Both now join in the suit and ask that a deed be executed. Barron of Beresford for $5000 for alleged injuries received while employed by defendant at his dairy at Beresford on October 27, 1912. Defendant owned a vicious horse which returned loose in a box stall. The animal had the viscious habit of backing out of the stall when a large chain that held the door was removed. On the morning of October 27, 1912, an employe of the defendant negligently and carelessly removed the chain and the animal backed out to the end of the barn where plaintiff was at work and crushed him, fracturing two bones of his right leg. He was laid up for several weeks and spent $200 in doctor bills and medicines. Plaintiff asks for costs and the sum of $200 and damages in the amount of $5000. John D. Willard is the attorney for Dittus.

LOREN COBURN IN LAST FIGHT FOR CONTROL OF PROPERTY

The trial of Loren Coburn, who seeks to be restored to competency, began in the Superior Court Tuesday. The aged Pescadero capitalist was declared incompetent by Judge Dooling in 1910 and since that time his guardian, M. J. Hynes, of San Francisco, has managed his vast estate, worth in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. Mr. Coburn is making the effort of his life to be restored to capacity, that he might get possession of his holdings, gained by years of toil. Mr. Coburn is now 87 years of age, but is still hale and hearty. Mr. Coburn has gathered a great array of legal talent about him to make the contest of his life. His lawyers are John L. McNab, Archy Treat, P. Henshall and Albert Mansfield. There is also an able contingent on the other side representing M. J. Hynes. They are Ross & Ross, Cullinan & Hickey and Matt I. Sullivan. The case will be the hardest contested legal battle in the history of the county. Thursday afternoon the following jury was secured to try the case: W. A. Maloney, John Russell, James A. Foster, Edward Greeley, M. C. Irwin, Thomas Leavy, J. J. Maloney, L. J. Flanders, M. M. Mason, J. M, Marley, O. E. Alger, H. J. Schath.

E. N. Coburn, Thomas F. Lopes, W. B. Kollmayer and Margaret Winant on Thursday gave testimony concerning the mentality of Loren Coburn. They all had met him in a business way for the past few years and were certain that he was perfectly rational and capable of attending to business. Mr. Lopes wasstudying law in Treat's office and had met Coburn frequently there and became intimate with him. While there he was admitted to practice.

"Mr. Coburn came in one day soon after, and congratulated me upon my success," said Lopes. "He had quite a long talk with me that day as to how a young man should act when first starting out. He said that a young man just starting out to practice should be very careful and not do anything that would appear dubious or make any one lose confidence in him. That when a case was brought to a young lawyer, he should look into it thoroughly, and if he thought that he could not win it, he should tell his client and not take a retainer and lead him to believe that he would win it. Also that a young lawyer should not overcharge anyone, especially while trying to build up a practice. He said that many young lawyers would get a case, and if there was a chance he would charge an enormous fee. Chances would be that he would get it, but the client would never come to him again, and would also tell his friends how he was treated. On the other hand, if he charged a very reasonable fee, the client would come back and tell others, and in that way, the attorney would get more clients."

Yesterday morning was taken up with a long argument by the counsel on both sides in reference to the admissibility of certain evidence. In the afternoon Evert A. Jones, Joseph G. Hooper, John H. Skinner and Arthur L. Nelson gave strong evidences regarding the mentality of Loren Coburn. It will take probably three weeks to complete the celebrated case.

Women Escape Injury.

Two Palo Alto women, Mrs. M. Cavanaugh and Mrs. Joseph Greer, narrowly escaped being seriously injured one day last week when a horse that they were driving near Woodside became frightened and ran away, dashing the buggy against a telephone pole and demolishing the vehicle. The women jumped from the carriage before the crash.

IN 1798 PENINSULA WAS SPARSELY POPULATED.

The earliest record census ever taken in San Francisco was in 1798, in the days of the old Spanish occupation, when California's population was composed of more Indians than Spaniards—and when the Gringo was practically unknown, says the Examiner.

Hidden away under a pile of musty, dusty papers in the office of the secretary of state, Theodore Kytka, handwriting expert, discovered the other day the original document of inhabitants on December 31, 1798, nearly 115 years ago.

An hand-written record, on heavy old Spanish parchment paper, this venerable relic tells that 115 years ago there were exactly 2915 inhabitants in the jurisdiction of the San Francisco Presidio—206 "Spanish and other castes" in the Presidio proper and 62 in the Villa Branciforte. The rest of the population of what is now the city and county of San Francisco, as well as the peninsula far down the coast, consisted of nine Spanish and 2638 Indians divided between the old Mission Dolores, the Mission Santa Clara, the Mission Santa Cruz and the Mission San Jose.

The population of Santa Cruz in 1798, according to the document, is given as 512, of which 510 were Indians. The jurisdiction of San Francisco, including the Presidio, Villa de Branciforte and Mission de San Francisco contained 895 souls of which 625 were Indians; Santa Clara had 1388 souls, of which only three were of pure Spanish caste, and San Jose had a population of 120, of which 118 were Indians.

SHIP AMERICANA GIVEN UP; FIRST MATE KNOWN HERE.

The report last week that the crew of the ship Americana had arrived at Samoa was an error due to the confusion of the name of that vessel with the Amarath which was wrecked in the South Sea Islands. The Americana sailed from Astoria in February with a cargo of lumber for Australia. Among her crew was Charles Stilleson, the first mate, a brother of Chris Stilleson of this city, who was well known here. The owners have given the vessel up as lost, but a ray of hope lingers in the possibility that the crew may have landed on some one of the Pacific islands outside of the regular course of vessels and some time in the future may be found. Charles Stilleson was 40 years of age and a competent seaman. He visited his relatives in this city before sailing on his last voyage.

County Leads at Land Show

The big California Land Show and Home Industry Exhibition opened its doors last Sunday in San Francisco to the largest crowd that has ever attended the opening of any exhibition since the Midwinter fair, nearly two decades ago. San Mateo county takes a notable part in this affair. Through the efforts of the County Development Association this community's representation was made possible. The county's display is the talk of the exhibition. Every San Matean who has viewed it did so with a feeling of surprise and pride.

A. L. Harrigan, president of the San Francisco Real Estate Board, the organization that is promoting the land show, informed Frank L. Ekswand, who is in charge of the county's exhibits, on the opening day, that he personally felt that this county was entitled to a special prize for the best and most varied exhibit made by any county.

It is probably best to make no attempt to describe the various beautiful exhibits of our county. This is done in the hope that every resident will take the opportunity of visiting the land show and judging for himself. The exhibition is open from 10 a. m. to 11 p. m. every day, closing the evening of Saturday, October 25th.

It is the aim of the development association to so impress the name of this county in the minds of the countless thousands of strangers, who will be in San Francisco during the Portola festivities, that they will be anxious to view our county in person.

Larkin May Build Hotel

Joseph Larkin, who grew up in Redwood City, and is now a prosperous business man of Palo Alto, states that he is about to prepare plans for the construction of a three or four story concrete building on the site of his present stores and conduct a commercial hotel, which will be modern in every respect. Mr Larkin says that he believes the opportunity is in Palo Alto for a hotel of that character.

WITTER WATER

Is a medical water, just as it comes from the spring. Nothing added. Nothing removed. Just as nature makes it. It must be used for weeks and sometimes for months. But its effects are certain. Its results are marvelous.

Witter Springs Water goes to the very root of the evil. It removes the cause first. Then nature develops the functions of the body and gradually overcomes the disease. It's slow. Yes; but it's sure.

Those who are persuaded to take Witter Water a sufficient length of time become its best friends and tell others about its wonderful effects. One person completely well is worth a dozen partly well. Worth a dozen to himself as well as to us.

Ask your physician about the permanent effects of Witter Water. Ask your dealer. Write for literature.
